Biographical / Historical

Vladimir Horowitz (in Russian, Gorowitz) was born in Berdichev, near Kiev, on October 1, 1903. His father, Simeon, was an electrical engineer, and his mother, Sophie, a pianist. It was Sophie who gave Volodya (as he was affectionately called), his sister, Regina, and brothers Jacob and George, their first music lessons. When he was ten years old, Horowitz entered the Kiev Conservatory where he studied with Vladimir Puchalsky, Sergei Tarnowsky, and Felix Blumenfeld.

At first, Horowitz aspired to be a composer, and as a teenager produced several compositions (the holograph manuscript of one of these works, Etude-fantaisie es-dur op. 4 : Les Vagues (dedicated to Tarnowsky), is among the Papers). But revolution and the hardships of life under the Bolsheviks intervened, forcing him to abandon his dream of becoming a composer (his dazzling piano transcriptions written later in his career attest to his compositional talents). With his father's successful business and most of their possessions, including the piano, seized by the Bolsheviks, and the Horowitzes living together with all of their relatives in poverty, Vladimir Horowitz was determined to use his phenomenal talent as a pianist to help his family. He graduated from the Conservatory in 1920, giving his first public performance in Kiev on May 30 of that year. His paternal uncle Alexander, a pupil of Scriabin, became his first manager. In 1922, Uncle Alexander was replaced as manager by the state, which then dictated the careers of Horowitz, his sister, and his good friend Nathan Milstein. From 1922 to 1925 he performed extensively in Kharkov, Kiev, Moscow, and Leningrad, and his reputation as a virtuoso grew.

After state management, Horowitz's career was overseen by Alexander Merovitch, who helped Horowitz leave Russia in 1925. The decision to leave was difficult, and the only family member he was to ever see again was his father, once, in 1934. His first performance outside of Russia was in Berlin, on January 2, 1926. From 1926 to 1927 he gave sixty-nine concerts throughout Europe, and became immensely popular with the public. He studied briefly with Alfred Cortot in Paris, in 1928. Horowitz switched management to Arthur Judson, and on January 12, 1928, made his American debut with Sir Thomas Beecham and the New York Philharmonic playing Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto. His debut was sensational; the audience was amazed by his performance. Horowitz's career took off: he performed for sold-out concerts, commanded the highest fees, and became universally celebrated. In 1933 Mr. Horowitz performed Beethoven's Emperor Concerto with Toscanini and the New York Philharmonic as part of a Beethoven cycle. The concert was a great success, and he won the admiration of Toscanini, whose daughter, Wanda, he married on December 21, 1933, in Milan. Their daughter, Sonia, was born in 1934.

The Horowitzes came to the United States in 1939, and he became a citizen in 1942. He gave the world premiere of Samuel Barber's Piano Sonata on December 9, 1949, in Havana. Horowitz began a twelve-year retirement from concert life after his Silver Jubilee concert on February 25, 1953, during which time he made a few recordings. Horowitz made his triumphant return to the concert stage at Carnegie Hall on May 9, 1965. Throngs of eager fans stood in the ticket line overnight, and the tickets were sold out in two hours.

Horowitz's televised recital in September 1968 was a huge success, allowing viewers across the country to see him in performance. After a retirement from 1969 to 1974, during which Horowitz made and reissued recordings, he gave the first piano recital at the new Metropolitan Opera House on November 17, 1974. On January 8, 1978, he celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his American debut at Carnegie Hall playing Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 3 with Eugene Ormandy and the New York Philharmonic. He performed in Europe for the first time in thirty-one years in a recital in London's Royal Festival Hall on May 22, 1982, and he played a series of recitals for the first time in Japan in 1983. In the following years he toured Europe and Japan, performed in the United States, and made recordings, videos, telecasts, and films. Horowitz made an historic return to the Soviet Union after a sixty-one year absence in 1986, and for this was later awarded the United States Presidential Medal of Freedom by President Reagan.

Horowitz performed at the White House for Presidents Hoover, Carter, and Reagan. President Bush bestowed upon him the National Medal of Arts in 1989.

On November 1, 1989, Horowitz made what was to be The Last Recording. He died suddenly, on November 5, 1989, of a heart attack. After the funeral in New York, his body was flown to Milan where he was buried in the Toscanini family plot.

Scope and Contents

The Papers of Vladimir Horowitz and Wanda Toscanini Horowitz (1784-1991) reflect the life and work of the legendary pianist, Vladimir Horowitz, and of his wife, Wanda Toscanini Horowitz. The Papers chronicle Horowitz's life and illustrious seventy-one year career from Kiev to New York.

The Papers include correspondence, programs, photographs, clippings, scrapbooks, contracts, royalty statements, awards, certificates, jewelry, and a wide range of memorabilia. Included too are manuscript and published music, autograph letters of famous composers, and original works of art from the Horowitzes' private collection. The Papers document the Horowitzes' close association with such figures as Sergei Rachmaninoff, Rudolf Serkin, Arthur Rubinstein, Nathan Milstein, Gregor Piatigorsky, Olin Downes, Isaac Stern, Arturo Toscanini, and Bruno Walter. The music includes holograph manuscripts of works by Horowitz, Poulenc, and Prokofiev. There is also much published music with markings by Horowitz and/or inscriptions from composers and friends.

Very important are the 218 unpublished live recordings on acetate disc of Horowitz's Carnegie Hall recitals of the 1940s and 50s. Horowitz had these 12 and 16 inch discs made for personal use. They are cataloged and housed at Yale University's Historical Sound Recordings Collection, where they have been copied unto tape for preservation purposes and are available for researchers. Mrs. Horowitz also donated a treasure of items pertaining to her father, Arturo Toscanini. These include many photographs, scrapbooks, correspondence, and memorabilia. There are also 324 recordings by Toscanini or Toscanini and Horowitz made by the Franklin Mint Society, Musica Amica, RCA Artistique, RCA Camden, RCA Victor/Red Seal, RCA Victrola, RCA Victrola (Italy), RCA Victor-Japan, and Columbia. These are also housed and cataloged at Yale University's Historical Sound Recordings Collection.

Series I: CORRESPONDENCE, 1890-1991

32 boxes (13.3')

The correspondence is divided into two subseries: A. Personal; and B. By Subject. The personal correspondence is arranged alphabetically by sender then chronologically. Copies and drafts of letters from Horowitz are filed with the recipient's correspondence and a note has been made in the register. Replies made in behalf of Horowitz by others such as Harold Shaw, Peter Gelb, and secretaries, are filed under Horowitz. This series includes correspondence to and from Vladimir Horowitz and Wanda Toscanini Horowitz, as well as from Sonia Horowitz, and to and from Arturo Toscanini. Original correspondence from Vladimir Horowitz to Wanda Toscanini Horowitz and Arturo Toscanini, and from Sonia Horowitz to Arturo Toscanini are listed under the authors' names. The correspondence in the second subseries is grouped by subject and listed chronologically with a chronological arrangement within each group. Fan mail is included in this subseries.

Originals of letters from important people which were found grouped by subject are now filed with personal correspondence and photocopies of these remain in subseries B, VI. CONTRACTS, and IX. MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS - Items pertaining to Toscanini.

Enclosures are noted and counted in the items column.

Cross-references have been made between individuals with correspondence in both subseries as well as between series. For instance, cross-references have been made between correspondence in series VI. CONTRACTS... and I.A. Personal Correspondence. There are also cross-references from various forms of names to the main entries.

The entries under Arturo Toscanini, in I.A., include correspondence to and from Toscanini. The correspondence from Toscanini to his family is followed by correspondence to others, which includes photocopies of correspondence from other important people (the originals are at the New York Public Library).

A pencil note appears on the item or its folder for correspondence originally found in another series such as V. SCRAPBOOKS (which have been microfilmed and disassembled).

Drafts of letters on legal paper and paper in poor condition have been copied onto acid-free paper.

There is one oversize box (132) for correspondence which is housed at the end with other oversize boxes.

Series III: PHOTOGRAPHS, 1885-1991*20 boxes (8.3')*

The photographs are divided into five subseries: A. Vladimir Horowitz, Wanda Toscanini Horowitz, Sonia Horowitz, and Others; B. Others; C. Concert Halls, Ticket Lines, Places, and Objects; D. Toscanini Photographs; and E. Photo Albums. Subseries A is arranged chronologically, subseries B is arranged alphabetically, and subseries C, D, and E, are arranged chronologically.

Negatives are noted and included in the item count. Prints were made and added to the Papers for the slides and negatives which were originally without prints.

Dates, names, and other information is supplied, when possible, in brackets on the back of each photograph and or on the acid-free envelope or wrapper.

The photographs in the albums in subseries E have been removed for preservation purposes, photographed, and the negatives are laid in.

Oversize photographs are housed in an oversize box (133) at the end with other oversize boxes. The exceptions to this are the oversize photographs which are too large for a box. One photograph is housed in an oversize folder (ovf), and one framed photograph is stored separately in the Music Library.

Series V: SCRAPBOOKS, 1928-1989*9 boxes (3.75')*

There are a total of 29 scrapbooks containing clippings, photographs, correspondence (including many telegrams), programs, advertisements, and miscellaneous items. Twenty-six have been microfilmed and an acid-free copyflo has been made from the microfilms. There are 5 reels of microfilm. Numbers have been assigned (by Yale University Music Library for filming) to each scrapbook, which are arranged in chronological order. The box, reel, and frame numbers, and the inclusive dates are listed for the copyflo of each scrapbook.

An additional 3 scrapbooks have been photocopied onto acid-free paper and microfilmed. The microfilm is laid in.

The original scrapbooks have been disassembled and the original correspondence, photographs, programs, advertisements, and miscellaneous items filed in their corresponding series. Cross-references have been made to the scrapbooks, and there are pencil notes on the items or their acid-free wrappers. The original clippings were discarded for preservation purposes. The clippings in part duplicate those in IV. CLIPPINGS.

There is another microfilm containing several copies of 9 clippings. This microfilm came with the Papers and no copyflo has been made since it is not a scrapbook and the articles are all in IV. CLIPPINGS.

Provenance: gift of Daniele, the daughter of Hans von Bülow (1830-1894) and Cosima (Liszt's daughter) to Franz Liszt, who, tradition holds, kept it on his night-stand, subsequently giving it to Professor Wilhelm Guida. From Professor Guida the medallion passed to Friedelind Wagner (daughter of Richard Wagner's son, Siegfried).
