Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections as they are acquired, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

Arthur Sze (1950-)

Arthur Sze is an American poet, translator, editor and professor. He was born in New York City in 1950 to Chinese immigrants. He graduated from the University of California, Berkeley in 1972 with a B.A. in poetry, where he also studied classical Chinese. He is the author of ten books of poetry, including his debut The Willow Wind (1972), The Ginkgo Light (2009), and Compass Rose (2014), which was a finalist for the 2015 Pulitzer Prize. His most recent work, Sight Lines (2019), was awarded the National Book Award. Sze's poetry has also been featured in numerous anthologies, including Premonitions: The Kaya Anthology of New Asian North American Poetry (1995), Verse & Universe: Poems about Science and Mathematics (1998), and New Poets of the American West (2010).

While Sze is best known as an English-language poet, he is also an accomplished Chinese translator. He translated a book of Chinese poetry, The Silk Dragon: Translations from the Chinese (2001) and published a bilingual Chinese-English book in Beijing, Pig's Heaven Inn (2014). He also served as an editor of Chinese Writers on Writing (2010), a collection of works by contemporary Chinese writers and poets.

Sze's poetry is influenced by his Chinese ancestry and his study of classical Chinese language, as well as his experiences living in New Mexico. His work draws from diverse sources of inspiration such as the landscape of the American Southwest, Chinese philosophy, and scientific imagery. His awards include two National Endowment for the Arts Creative Writing Fellowships in 1982 and 1993, the American Book Award in 1996, the Guggenheim Fellowship in 1997, and the Jackson Poetry Prize in 2013. He was recognized as the first poet laureate of Santa Fe in 2006, a title he held until 2008, and served as Chancellor of the American Academy of Poets from 2012 to 2017.

Sze has lived in Santa Fe, New Mexico, for over forty-five years. In addition to his poetry career, he is Professor Emeritus at the Institute of American Indian Arts, where he taught for twenty-two years.

Series I: Correspondence, 1977–2016

29.7 linear feet (71 boxes)

Correspondence consists of letters and printed email exchanges with poets, writers, translators, editors, publishers, literary organizations, creative writing students, family, friends, and others. Among Sze's correspondents are notable Black literary figures such as Jay Wright, Toi Derricotte, Claudia Rankine, and Quincy Troupe, Indigenous poets Joy Harjo (Muscogee Creek), Leslie Marmon Silko (Laguna Pueblo), and Simon J. Ortiz (Acoma Pueblo), and Chinese poet Xi Chuan, as well as editor Michael Wieggers, and poets Mei-mei Berssenbrugge, Barbara Guest, and James Schevill. There is additional correspondence with Sze's former students and colleagues at the Institute of American Indian Art, including Oglala Lakota poet Layli Long Soldier, Navajo poet Sherwin Bitsui, and Allison Hedge Coke, a writer of Huron and Cherokee descent. Writers with whom Sze corresponded frequently sought his feedback, and the series contains a considerable amount of their works, ranging from individual poems to book drafts. Also included are publishing agreements, rights and reproductions permissions, and photographs of Sze.

Associated Materials: Correspondence can also be found in Series II. Writings.
