Processing Information

This collection consists of materials formerly classed as Uncat Mss 475 and Uncat Mss 989. These materials were originally part of the Walter L. Pforzheimer Papers accessioned as Uncat Mss 991 in 2000. Papers relating to Stockton, as well as French historical documents collected by Pforzheimer, were removed from the Papers in 2003. Additional Stockton materials were removed during preliminary processing of the Papers in 2007-2008. Separation of Pforzheimer's Papers from his collection of Stockton was not comprehensive: some Pforzheimer personal papers are present in the Stockton Collection, and some Stockton materials remain in the Papers.

In 2008, the collection received a preliminary level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization. Most folder titles were based on those provided by Pforzheimer, while some were supplied by Library staff. Folder titles were not verified against contents. In 2012 February, the collection was reclassified under one call number, boxes and other containers were renumbered in a single sequence, and some fragile materials were identified. Organization by acquisition and folder titles assigned during preliminary processing were maintained, with some errors in folder titles corrected. Folder titles were not verified against contents.

The January 1997 Acquisition Addition was added to the finding aid in 2013.

This finding aid may be updated to account for further revisions in arrangement and description.

Walter L. Pforzheimer (1914-2003)

Walter L. Pforzheimer, lawyer, intelligence officer, and book collector. Pforzheimer was born in Port Chester, New York, in 1914, and graduated from Yale College (1935) and Yale Law School (1938). Pforzheimer began his intelligence career in the United States Army, 1942-1945, in the Office of Strategic Services and as an Army Air Force intelligence officer. He was one of the founders of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1946, and as a CIA legislative counsel and liaison to Congress assisted in drafting the 1947 National Security Act. In 1956, he founded the CIA's Historical Intelligence Collection, which he curated until his retirement in 1974. In retirement, he continued to work for the CIA and taught at the Defense Intelligence College. Pforzheimer died in Washington, D.C., in 2003.

Pforzheimer came from a family of book collectors: his father, also named Walter Pforzheimer (1883-1955), collected French armorial bindings and assembled a virtually complete collection of Molière; his uncle Carl H. Pforzheimer (1879-1957) collected Percy Bysshe Shelley and his circle. Pforzheimer inherited and augmented his father's collections, and assembled his own collection of American novelist Frank Richard Stockton. In addition to curating the CIA's Historical Intelligence Collection, Pforzheimer built a personal collection of books and manuscripts documenting the history of military intelligence. Elected to the Yale Library Associates board of trustees in 1936, Pforzheimer was a life-long trustee and donor to the Yale Libraries. He donated his book and manuscript collections of Molière, French armorial bindings, Frank Richard Stockton, and military intelligence to the Beinecke Library in 2001.

Scope and Contents

The Walter L. Pforzheimer Collection of Frank Richard Stockton contains correspondence, writings, photographs, artifacts, and other personal papers of Stockton and his family; drawings by illustrators of Stockton's works; writings about Stockton and adaptations of his works by others; and correspondence, notes, and related materials created by Pforzheimer in the course of his research and collecting. Correspondence includes autograph letters, signed, to and from Stockton, many with literary correspondents. Writings by Stockton include autograph manuscript and typescript drafts and fair copies, tear sheets from magazines, publisher contracts, advertisements, and scrapbooks of reviews. Also present are autograph manuscript diaries, accounts, notes, and juvenile writings by Stockton. Pen-and-ink and watercolor drawings, many with publisher's markings, include works by A. B. Frost, Charles Dana Gibson, Frederick Richardson, Frederic Dorr Steele, and other artists. Materials relating to the Stockton family include correspondence, scrapbooks, and photographs. Materials relating to Pforzheimer's research and collecting include vendor correspondence and receipts, notes, and card catalogs.

Research strengths include Frank Richard Stockton's life and writings; reception of his works; publishers, editors, and illustrators associated with Stockton; the Stockton family; nineteenth-century American magazines and children's literature; and book and manuscript collecting and the formation of Pforzheimer's collection.

Arrangement

Organized into three groupings: November 2000 Acquisition, November 2000 Acquisition Addition, and January 1997 Acquisition Addition.

Collection Contents

November 2000 Acquisition, 1829-1965

11.88 linear feet (22 boxes) + 17 broadside folders, 2 object storage items, 1 framed art item

Materials in this grouping were removed from the Walter L. Pforzheimer Papers in 2003. Personal names and titles of works have not been standardized. Most Stockton autograph letters and manuscripts and original drawings by illustrators are identified in folder titles; some folder titles consisting of names or topical subjects contain additional similar materials. Some folders identified by vendor names include both vendor correspondence and Stockton manuscripts purchased by Pforzheimer. A small amount of materials appear to be unrelated to Stockton, reflecting an incomplete division with the Pforzheimer Papers. These include Pforzheimer family photographs and papers of other authors collected by Pforzheimer.

Folders are unarranged, and folder contents have not been verified.
