Biographical / Historical

Brian Murray du Toit was born in Bloemfontein, South Africa, on March 2, 1935. He received a B.A. (1956) and an M.A. (1961) from the University of Pretoria and a Ph.D. (1963) from the University of Oregon. Beginning in 1966, du Toit taught anthropology at the University of Florida and conducted extensive research on various aspects of South Africa.

One of du Toit's research subjects has been the Boer (Afrikaner) who left South Africa following the Anglo-Boer war of 1899-1902. He studied Afrikaner diaspora settlements in Angola, East Africa (Kenya and Tanzania), Argentina and the American Southwest. Of Boer family background himself, du Toit conducted both archival and ethnographic research among descendants of Boer settlers in each of these countries. The outcome was a large collection of original materials including church records, personal journals, travel documents, and family photographs, genealogies and traditions. Du Toit has used these materials to publish several articles and three books.

Du Toit has also conducted research on prominent political parties in South Africa. For this reason, he corresponded with Chief Mangosuthu Gatsha Buthelezi, president of the Inkatha Freedom Party and former chief minister of KwaZulu. Du Toit also wrote on right wing white political parties in South Africa, including the former ruling National Party (NP) which has been identified with the Afrikaner people.

Scope and Contents

The collection consists of copies of speeches, public statements, press releases, memoranda, letters, church records, personal journals, travel documents, family photographs, kinship charts, field notes, manuscripts and related materials on the Inkatha Freedom Party and descendants of the Boers who left South Africa following the Anglo-Boer War of 1899-1902. The collection also includes materials on the Afrikaner Broederbond and the Dutch Reformed Church. Du Toit has used these materials in several published works, including three books on the Afrikaner diaspora: Colonial Boer: an Afrikaner Settlement in Chubut, Argentina (1995); Boer Settlers in the Southwest (1995); and The Boers in East Africa (1998).

Arrangement

The collection is arranged in four series and two additions: I. Buthelezi and the Inkatha Freedom Party, 1928-1989. II. Afrikaner Diaspora, 1902-1996. III. Brian M. du Toit Papers and Correspondence, 1903-1991. IV. Photographs, 1925-1933.

Collection Contents

Series I: Buthelezi and the Inkatha Freedom Party, 1928-1989

The series contains copies of speeches, public statements and political/historical writings by Chief Mangosuthu Gatsha Buthelezi, president of the Inkatha Freedom Party (formerly Inkatha Yenkululeko Yesizwe, National Cultural Liberation) and chief minister of KwaZulu (1976-1994). The materials are arranged chronologically under two headings: Buthelezi, and Other documents on the Inkatha Freedom Party. Subjects covered in the materials include alliance among black political movements, debates over "peaceful" and "armed" struggle, socioeconomic well-being and access of black South Africans to education, etc. The speeches were delivered at different forums, including weekly church congregations, political rallies, round-table discussions, press conferences, and official government and party meetings. Public statements were released mainly through Inkatha's own Information Centre on South Africa and reflect Inkatha's official positions on a variety of South African issues during the struggle against the apartheid regime. Most of the materials were "EMBARGOED UNTIL DELIVERY" [in capital letters].
