Benét family

Brigadier General S. V. (Stephen Vincent) Benét was born 22 January 1827 in St. Augustine, Florida. He studied at Hallowell's school in Alexandria, Virginia and then at the University of Georgia and the United States Military Academy, where he graduated in 1849. He was appointed to the Ordnance Corps, and served at the Watervliet Arsenal, at Washington, at Frankford Arsenal, again at Washington, and then at the St. Louis Arsenal. In 1859 he became Assistant Professor of Geography, History, and Ethics at West Point, and from 1861 until 1864 was instructor of Ordnance and the Science of Gunnery. From 1865 until 1869 he was in command of Frankford arsenal. In 1869 he became Assistant to the Chief of Ordnance, and in 1874 he succeeded to Chief of Ordnance with the rank of Brigadier General. He translated Jomini's Political and Military History of the Campaign of Waterloo (New York, 1853) and he is the author of a treatise on "Military Law and the Practice of Courts-Martial" (1862) and "Electro-Ballistic Machines and the Schultze Chronoscope" (1866).

He married Laura Amanda Walker and together they had two sons, James Walker Benét and Laurence Vincent Benét.

James Walker Benét (1857-1928), a Colonel in the U.S. Army, was born 16 July, 1857 in Richmond, Kentucky. He graduated from West Point Academy in 1880 and went on to serve most of his military career in the Army Ordnance Department. From 1890 until his retirement in 1921, he served at the Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia (1890-1894); Bethlehem Iron Works, South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania (1894-1898); Ordnance Headquarters, Buffalo, New York (1898-1899); Watervliet Arsenal, New York (1904-1905, 1919-1921); Rock Island Arsenal, Illinois (1904-1905), Benicia Arsenal, California (1905-1911), and Augusta Arsenal, Georgia (1911-1918).

James Walker Benét married Frances Neill Rose (1860-1940) of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in 1883. Ms. Rose, born 23 October, 1860 in Washington, D.C., was the child of William John Rose and Mary Lee Mahon. She attended Mrs. Sutton's School for Girls. Their children include authors Laura Benét, William Rose Benét, and Stephen Vincent Benét.

Laura Benét (1884-1979) was educated at the Emma Willard School in Troy, New York, and at Vassar and Moravian colleges. She worked at the Spring Street Settlement in New York City from 1915 to 1917 and at the American Red Cross in Augusta, Georgia from 1917 to 1919. She later took on editorial and free-lance writing assignments. She was the author of several poetry collections, fiction, and biographical works.

William Rose Benét (1886-1950) was educated at Albany Academy and Yale College (1903-1907). After college, Benét worked for Century Magazine as a reader. He served in the U.S. Air Services during the First World War, and after the war took work as a copy writer for an advertising firm. In 1920, Henry Seidel Canby brought Benét on as an assistant editor at the New York Evening Post and in 1923, Canby, Benét, and their fellow editors left the Post to form the Saturday Review.

William Rose Benét was the author of several collections of poetry, a novel, and a collection of essays. His autobiography in verse, The Dust Which Is God (1941), was awarded a Pulitzer Prize in 1942. In addition to his long-standing (1923-1950) position with the Saturday Review, Benét contributed to several compilations of English-language poetry and literature.

William Rose Benét married four times, to: Teresa Frances Thomson (1912-1919), with whom he had three children, James Walker Benét (1914-2012), Kathleen Anne (Benét) Fry, and Frances Rosemary (Benét) Dawson; poet Elinor Wylie (1923-1928); actress Lora Baxter (1932-1937); and children's book author Majorie Flack (1941-1950).

Stephen Vincent Benét (1898-1943), educated at Summerville Academy and Yale College (1915-1919), was a well known and widely read author in the United States during the 1930s and 1940s. After the success of his long poem, John Brown's Body (1928), for which he was awarded a Pulitzer Prize in 1929, he regularly published poems, short stories, and other work in popular magazines such as The Atlantic Monthly, The New Yorker, and The Saturday Evening Post. His short story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster" (1936) was awarded the O. Henry Memorial Award in 1937. In addition to poetry and short stories, he is the author of novels, book reviews, essays, radio and stage plays, screenplays, and speeches.

Stephen Vincent Benét and Rosemary Carr married in 1921. They had three children, Thomas, Stephanie Jane, and Rachel.

Biographical information taken from Arlington National Cemetery website and other sources.

Scope and Contents

The Benét family papers consists of correspondence, manuscripts, and other papers documenting the lives and activities of four generations of the Benét family. Material relating to members of the Rose, Mahon, and Carr families can also be found. The collection spans the years from 1849 to 1994.

The defining thread to the collection runs from Brigadier General Stephen Vincent Benét and his wife Laura Amanda (Walker) Benét through their son James Walker Benét and his wife Frances Neill (Rose) Benét, through their three children, Laura, William Rose, and Stephen Vincent, to the children of William Rose and Stephen Vincent Benét.

The three siblings, Laura, William Rose, and Stephen Vincent established the Benét family's literary reputation in the early to mid-20th century. The papers of Laura Benét are particularly well represented here. The Correspondence series includes large files of letters to Laura Benét from her mother and her two brothers. The Writings series includes over 50 examples of her work, with drafts and printed versions of short forms such as poems, reviews, stories, and essays. And the Other Papers series includes 26 diary volumes dating from 1922 to 1978, as well as scrapbooks and other material.

Collection material is chiefly in English; with some material in French.

Arrangement

Organized into three series: I. Correspondence, 1854-1994. II. Writings, 1849-1973. III. Other Papers, 1871-1994.

Collection Contents

Series I: Correspondence, 1854–1994, 1880-1940s

13.34 linear feet (32 boxes)

Series I. Correspondence is the largest component of the Benét family papers. The correspondence covers four generations of the family, almost 150 years, dating from the mid-19th century (1854) to the end of the 20th century (1994). The defining thread of the series, and indeed the entire collection, runs from Brigadier General Stephen Vincent Benét and his wife Laura Amanda (Walker) Benét through their son James Walker Benét and his wife Frances Neill (Rose) Benét, through their three children, Laura, William Rose, and Stephen Vincent, to, finally, the children of William Rose and Stephen Vincent Benét.

The three siblings, Laura, William Rose, and Stephen Vincent established the family's literary reputation in the early to mid-20th century, and there are large files of letters from the three children to their mother, Frances Rose Benét. There are also large files of letters to Laura Benét from her mother and from her brother William Rose. Additionally, there are letters to and from more extended members of the family, including the Rose, Mahon, and Carr families. Other noteworthy files exist for Rosemary Benét and her mother, Dr. Rachel H. Carr of Chicago, Illinois.

Organized into 28 subseries. Correspondence is arranged alphabetically first by correspondent (recipient) and then by sender. Letters are arranged chronologically within files.

Series II: Writings, 1849–1973, bulk 1920–1959*2.83 linear feet (3 boxes)*

Series II. contains writings by members of the Benét family and by others. The small number of works by others relate chiefly to members of the Benét family. Writings by family members includes work by Frances Rose Benét, Laura Benét, Rosemary Benét, Stephen Vincent Benét, Thomas Benét, and William Rose Benét. Drafts and printed versions of mostly shorter works, such as poems, stories, and essays, are present here. The largest group of material, the writings of Laura Benét, includes over 50 titles. Additional writings by Laura Benét can also be found in Series III. Other Papers where, in a subseries for Other Material, scrapbooks include clippings of poems.

Organized into two subseries: Writings by Members of the Benét Family and Writings of Others.

Series III: Other Papers, 1871–1994*10.30 linear feet (20 boxes)*

Series III. Other Papers contains all other family-related material in the collection, including diaries, financial and legal records, photographs, and printed and other personal material. The series is arranged first by type of material and then, in most cases, alphabetically by family member.

In addition to the large group of writings by Laura Benét in Series II., here there is a run of Laura Benét's diaries dating from 1922 through 1978--there is one volume for 1922, and then 25 volumes for the period from 1949 through 1978. Financial and legal records consist chiefly of bank statements, cancelled checks, receipts, tax documents, and other financial documents. While some photographs of Benét family members can be found here, a significant number of photographs of Stephen Vincent and Rosemary Benét and their children are enclosed in letters from Rosemary Benét to her mother, Rachel H. Carr, and to her parents, Rachel H. and Thomas Carr. These letters, and enclosed photographs, are located in Series I. Correspondence.

Printed materials include business and calling cards, clippings, invitations, programs, postcards, and other ephemera. There are also several volumes relating to Stephen Vincent Benét's graduating class at Yale, the Yale College class of 1919. Volumes such as The History of the Class of Nineteen Hundred & Nineteen (Yale University Press, 1919) provide biographical information on Benét and his classmates.

Miscellaneous other materials include manuscript notes and notebooks, identification cards and passports, and school papers.

Box 56 contains audiovisual material. Restricted fragile. Reference copies may be requested. Consult Access Services for further information.

Organized into five subseries: Diaries, Financial and Legal Records, Photographs, Printed Material, and Other Material.
