CALL NUMBER: GEN MSS 676

CREATOR: Jeleński, Konstanty A. (Konstanty Aleksander), 1922-1987

TITLE: Konstanty Jeleński papers

DATES: 1940-1988

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 6.43 linear feet (18 boxes)

LANGUAGE: Material is in French, Polish, and English.

SUMMARY: The papers include correspondence, writings and other material that documents Konstanty Jeleński's editorial work, literary criticism and involvement with several cultural organizations, including the Congress for Cultural Freedom, the Royaumont Foundation, and the Institut national de l'audiovisuel. A significant portion of the papers documents Jeleński's translation and criticism of the writings of Witold Gombrowicz. The Papers are not a complete literary archive of Jeleński's life and work and contain only a portion of his correspondence and writings. Series I consists chiefly of Jeleński's general correspondence, writings and writings of others; the remaining series consist of papers related to specific topics and organizations. Correspondents include Witold and Rita Gombrowicz, fellow affiliates with the Congress for Cultural Freedom, and publishers. Essays and other writings relate chiefly to mid-twentieth-century Polish literary and political life (especially that of Polish émigrés), to the activities of the Congress for Cultural Freedom, and to Jeleński's translations from Polish to French. Printed material relates to literary, historical and political topics, especially in Poland in the mid- to late- twentieth century. A small amount of material relates to Jeleński's affiliation with the Royaumont Foundation and the Institut national de l'audiovisuel, documenting a portion of the activity of these organizations in the 1970s and 1980s.

Konstanty Jeleński, 1922-1987

Konstanty Aleksander Jeleński (in French: Constantin Jelenski) was born January 2, 1922 in Warsaw, Poland and died May 4, 1987 in Paris, France. At the age of eighteen he left Poland to serve the Polish Army in France. He lived the remainder of his life as an émigré, first in Italy for several years after the Second World War, then settling in Paris in 1951.

In Paris, Jeleński was active in Polish émigré literary circles. He led the Eastern European division of the Congress for Cultural Freedom (after 1967, the International Association for Cultural Freedom) and was a prolific contributor to the Association's monthly publication Preuves and to Kultura, the Polish émigré literary journal. Beginning in 1975, he became increasingly active with the Institut national de l'audiovisuel.

Jeleński's criticism, translations and edited works addresses a wide range of literary, political and artistic topics, especially twentieth-century Polish literature and history. Among his most influential works are many critical essays about Witold Gombrowicz and the edited volume Anthologie de la poesie polonaise (1965).

Series II: Papers Relating to Witold Gombrowicz, 1951-1987

2.92 linear feet (7 boxes)

Series II consists of material collected by Jeleński in relation to his critical and editorial work on Gombrowicz and translations of Gombrowicz's writings into French. Several of the writings consist of translations into French, most likely all by Jeleński. The bulk of the series consists of drafts or copies of critical essays about Gombrowicz, by Jeleński and by others. The subseries Other Papers includes a few documents and contracts related to the publishing of Gombrowicz's writings and newspaper clippings on Gombrowicz.

Series II is organized into three subseries: Witold and Rita Gombrowicz Correspondence, Writings, and Other Papers.

Witold and Rita Gombrowicz correspondence

Unless otherwise indicated, material filed under this heading is photocopies. Dates reflect the original correspondence. Correspondence dated after Witold Gombrowicz's death in 1969 is with Rita Gombrowicz.

Series III: Papers Relating to the Congress for Cultural Freedom, 1959-1976

0.63 linear feet (2 boxes)

Series III documents Jeleński's involvement with the Congress for Cultural Freedom. Much of the material dates from the time surrounding a scandal in which ties between the Congress and the Central Intelligence Agency were publicized in 1967. The Congress subsequently changed its name to the International Association for Cultural Freedom. Correspondence is with other affiliates of the Congress and discusses various activities, focusing on Eastern European politics during the 1960s and 1970s. Reports and memoranda document the activities of the Congress in the areas of political activism, the arts, and research into pacifism and violence as methods of social change. Printed material consists of newspaper clippings about the Congress and about topics related to activities of the Congress.

Series III is organized into three subseries: Correspondence, Reports and Memoranda, and Printed Material.
