Processing Information

This collection consists of materials formerly classed as Uncat MSS 826. In 2005, the collection received a preliminary level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization. A preliminary finding aid was compiled from lists created at the time of receipt by the Library. Folder titles were based on those provided by the creator or previous custodian. Titles were not verified against the contents of folders. In 2007-2008, the preliminary finding aid was revised to comply with current archival descriptive standards.

In 2012, the collection received a baseline level of processing, including rehousing and reorganization. The collection was reclassified and organized into series, folder titles were revised, and containers were renumbered. Most folder titles in the Correspondence series were updated to conform with Library of Congress name authorities. Some writings were listed by uniform title; most were listed in alphabetic groupings based on forms of titles appearing in the collection.

Jacques Guicharnaud (1924-2005)

Jacques Guicharnaud, Benjamin F. Barge Professor Emeritus of French at Yale University, scholar of French theater, and specialist in French literature and drama of the 17th, 18th, and 20th centuries. Guicharnaud was born in Paris, where he was a student during the German occupation in World War II. During the 1940s, he was associated with existentialist philosophers Jean-Paul Sartre, Albert Camus, and Simone de Beauvoir. In 1949, he emigrated to the United States to teach at Bryn Mawr College. Guicharnaud taught at Yale from 1950 to his retirement in 1997, with the exception of an appointment at Harvard University during 1977-1979. At Yale, he was acting master of Jonathan Edwards College, 1968 spring, and Morse College, 1972-1973, and he served on the executive committee of the Yale Theater Studies Program. His writings on French literature include Modern French Theatre From Giraudoux to Beckett, coauthored with June Beckelman (1961) and Molière: une aventure théâtrale: Tartuffe, Don Juan, Le misanthrope (1963). He also wrote and translated plays for theater and television, and coauthored a novel, Santarém, with Yale University history professor Rollin G. Osterweis (1959). He was married to June Beckelman Guicharnaud (1922-1989), an author, editor, and translator.

Scope and Contents

The Jacques Guicharnaud Papers consist of correspondence with literary and teaching colleagues, publishers, family, and friends; autograph manuscript and typescript drafts of plays, literary criticism, and other writings; a small amount of drafts and offprints of literary criticism by colleagues; syllabi, lecture notes, and administrative papers relating to teaching at Yale University and Harvard University; printed material including theater programs and clippings relating to theater in France and the United States; and a small amount of financial records, photographs of colleagues, family, and play productions, and other papers. Most materials date from Guicharnaud's career in the United States; some correspondence and writings from his studies and early career in France are also present. Research strengths include Guicharnaud's writings and teaching career, French theater, and criticism and teaching of French literature in the United States, 1950s-1990s.

Arrangement

Organized into six series: I. Correspondence, circa 1945-circa 2005. II. Writings, 1943-circa 1997. III. Writings by Others, circa 1950-circa 1997. IV. Teaching Materials, circa 1950-circa 1997. V. Printed Material, circa 1950-circa 2005. VI. Other Papers, circa 1950-circa 2005.

Collection Contents

Series I: Correspondence, circa 1945-circa 2005

1.25 linear feet (3 boxes)

Correspondence includes letters from Henri Peyre, Sterling Professor of French Emeritus at Yale University; other colleagues and students; publishers; and a few letters from early literary associates including Albert Camus, Jean Cocteau, and Jean-Paul Sartre. Correspondence with publishers concerns Guicharnaud's writings, with some accompanying drafts, contracts, and royalty statements. Most letters are incoming, with a small amount of outgoing drafts and typescript carbons.
